We Dedicate the Creston "Lore of '64" to

Mr. DeVoe, Instrumental Music, Miss Lanke, Art, and Mr. Goodwin, Vocal Music

those who have, not just this year, but for many years, helped to pattern the personalities, interests, and activities of Creston students.

In this modern age with so much emphasis being placed on concrete, scientific advancements, and less on creative achievement, we wish to dedicate the Saga of 1964 to Miss Lanke, Mr. DeVoe, and Mr. Goodwin, three teachers who have kept the fine arts alive at Creston.

THE ROUSING SPIRIT that fills the stands at the games begins at the Friday pep assemblies

1964 — Bubbling spirit that filled the stands, contagious laughter that filled the halls, pensive minds that filled the classrooms. A year marked by its feats and defeats, toil and frolic; filled with sorrows and joys, yet tinged with tragedy.

Under the watchful eye of the scholars the R.O.T.C. went to the field day, the band got new uniforms, and a wrestling team was born.

Amid the aroma of garlic, cheap perfume, and dirty weeds, boys were initiated into the C Club.

In Senior homeroom a representative from Alabama aroused Senior emotions on civil rights, with an effective talk, songs, and a sit-in demonstration.

Again emotions were aroused when controversy flared between Seniors and Underclassmen on the battle field of the ECHO pages.

Highs and lows were scored by athletic teams, which this year included the girls in interscholastic competition.

The frantic whirl of a skating party and a memorable dance touched off the year for the Junior High.

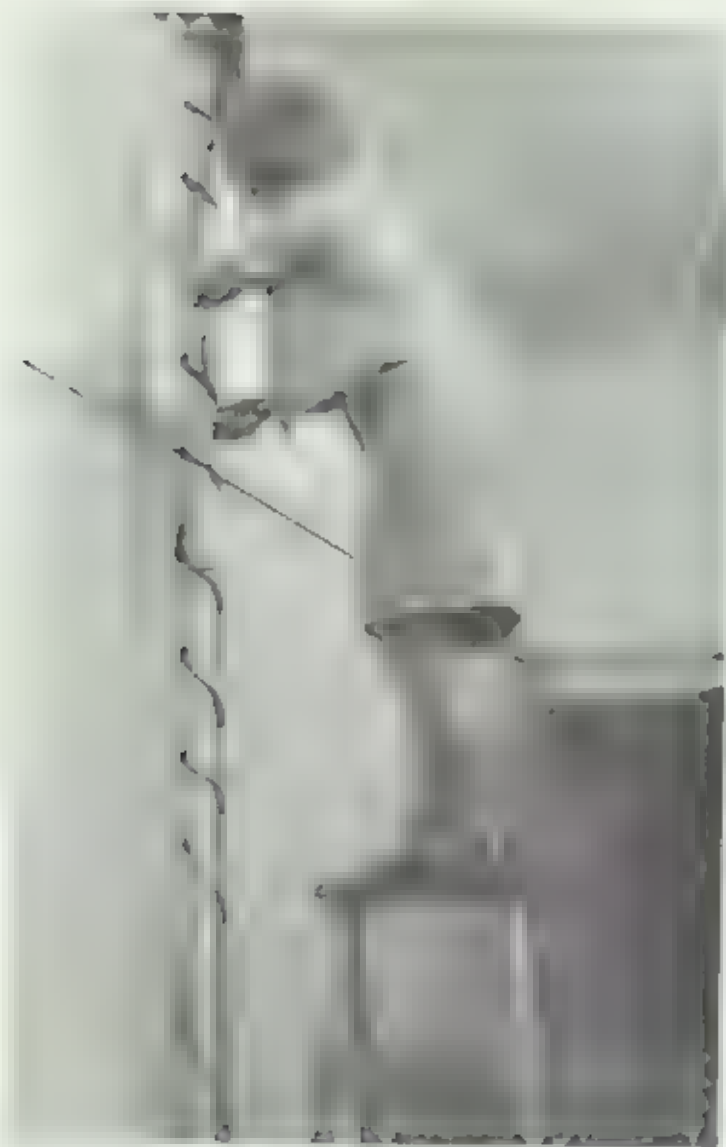

The climax of the year — graduation — comes too soon for some, while for others it is a long awaited moment; but for all it is a moment to be remembered forever.

Bubbling spirit, contagious laughter, pensive minds — a year to be remembered in the Lore of Creston High School — 1964.

SCHOLASTICS

The Principal --- Maker of the Principles

Mr. Russell Waters, principal, has led an active and worthwhile life. He was born in Kent County and attended Grand Rapids schools from elementary through high school. He received a Bachelor of Science Degree from Western Michigan University and a Master of Arts Degree from the University of Michigan.

MR. WATERS — Intent Spectator!

Mr. Waters has taught and coached at Godwin High School, Burton Junior High School, Union and Central High Schools. He is very athletic minded, likes especially basketball and baseball. His youngest son is following in his footsteps, is now a teacher and coach.

During a three and one-half year Navy enlistment in World War II, Mr. Waters captained two navy ships. He has said, "Being captain of a ship is very similar to being principal of a school. It is a lonesome job, even though you are constantly surrounded by people."

Mr. Waters is a family man, proud of his wife, his two children, and his three grandchildren. He is a very avid but, to quote him, "lousy" golfer. He also is interested in the theater.

The study of the school dropout problem is of major interest to him. He is seeking ways to encourage these students to stay in school so their adult lives will be more fruitful, both for them and for the country.

His main objective as a school administrator is to direct Creston's students into a richer high school experience.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL has many problems to solve.

Creston's Aide-de-camp

Miss Dorothy Lawyer, Creston's assistant principal, performs countless duties and takes part in many activities of which the student body is unaware.

As director of instruction and registrar for newcomers, Miss Lawyer comes in contact with the student body both directly and indirectly. Also under the heading of assistant principal's duties are placing of student teachers and acting as principal in the absence of Mr. Waters.

One of her annual jobs is collecting all the necessary data and planning the general procedure for the honors assembly.

Playing the organ, singing in a choir, and gardening keep her spare time filled with enjoyable activities.

Miss Lawyer has a philosophy which applies to everyone, regardless of age or occupation. She states that, "It is proper to demand your individual rights, but you must assume the responsibilities which accompany them."

MISS LAWYER displays trophies to be given at June Honors Assembly.

Mr. Donald Black

Mr. David Hager

Mr. Richard Janke

Problems Discussed -- Problems Solved

Mr. Janke and Mr. Hager

Problems — problems — problems: this is the special province of the counselors.

The problems vary with different individuals and with different age levels — but problems are with us all!

All seventh graders are new to Creston — they must be helped to become a part of an active school program. Eighth graders must begin planning programs for their high school years — must try to come to some decisions as to what they want to study.

Freshmen are top-level junior high school students and thus are leaders of such groups as the Junior High Student Council, advised by Mrs. Isaacson, who is the junior high counselor. Before entering the senior high school, each ninth grader plans his program for the rest of his high school years.

However carefully students may plan their courses, they still may change their minds. Changes may be indicated by the scores made on tests: the Iowa test given in the sophomore year and the SCAT test given to the juniors. Mr. Janke and Mr. Hager, advisers for tenth and eleventh graders, respectively, help counsel them into appropriate changes when these are necessary.

Senior students need much counseling which is wisely given by Mr. Black, who also serves as class adviser. Credits toward graduation, help on college selection, scholarship applications, and job placement are just a few of the special senior problems.

The counselors also try to work with individuals helping them to adjust to the school and to the people with whom they associate.

COUNCIL of Counselors.

Mrs. Lorena Vanderstel

Mrs. Barbara Haglund

Behind-the-Scene Workers

Putting out bulletins; keeping records; answering innumerable phone calls; greeting the many persons who come into the school; sending out student records to schools, colleges, and places of employment — these are but a few of the everyday tasks which are performed each day by Creston's capable office staff.

But, in spite of these many and varied activities, Mrs. Haglund has a cheerful smile and a friendly greeting for any student who steps into the counseling office to make an appointment or ask a question.

Though the record keeping for which they are responsible is a full time job, Mrs. Fitzsimons and Mrs. Swiger still find a few moments now and then to help students to maintain financial records for clubs and to keep track of what is happening in the school; for theirs is the job of making appropriate announcements over the loud speaker system.

Mrs. VanderStel and Mrs. Rammacher are designated as official keepers of records of school attendance — and of students in attendance! Their problems were multiplied this year with the measles epidemic; but they still managed to handle the situation! and the skippers!

English Specialization Sparks Interest

English, through the years considered by most students a very boring but compulsory course, has been somewhat revamped at Creston this year.

To create classes of greater value for students with varied interests and ability, the classes have been divided into three specialized sections which are honors, regular, and basic. The honors course is for students able to concentrate their studies more heavily on literature than on grammar.

A well-balanced course including both grammar and literature comprises the regular English section.

In the basic English sections the main emphasis is on grammar, with occasional interludes of literature study.

Opportunities for displaying unusual talents in the many-faceted English classes are made possible through special assignments.

They arrayed themselves in the costume of the early 17th century and proceeded to recite in Old English selections from the "Tales." Authentic background music of the era was provided by one of the participating students.

Special activities often include making use of the reference materials of the library, particularly at term paper time!

Besides the required English classes at Creston, students are able to choose from a variety of specialized courses in this field. These include dramatics, speech, debate, and journalism.

Foreign Fun and Frolic

Learning about native customs (both speech and action) provides the main theme around which Creston's Latin, Spanish, and French classes are centered. A greater understanding of foreign cultures is a goal of both teachers and students.

Representing the Latin department, the annual Roman banquet is the scene of toga-attired, Latin-speaking students, who put into practice on this festive night, customs and speech which they have studied during the school year.

Customs, traditional foods, and songs were the focal points of special Spanish activities:

Fiesta de Navidad (featuring the pinata), a "Hootenanny," and a Fiesta Espaniole.

Typical daily conversations as they might be conducted in France were a major feature of class activities in both beginning and advanced French classes. Book reports were made in French on French books. An enterprising group of students revised and translated into French Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet and dramatized this version to the various French classes.

Enthusiasm for, and enrichment of, the foreign language department has been achieved by this modern and practical approach to language learning.

Junior High Trained for Leadership

Junior high students often seem unimportant to many of us, but they will soon be the leaders of the school. To prepare them for leadership, these youngsters have their own sports program, dances, and assemblies, adding much liveliness to Creston.

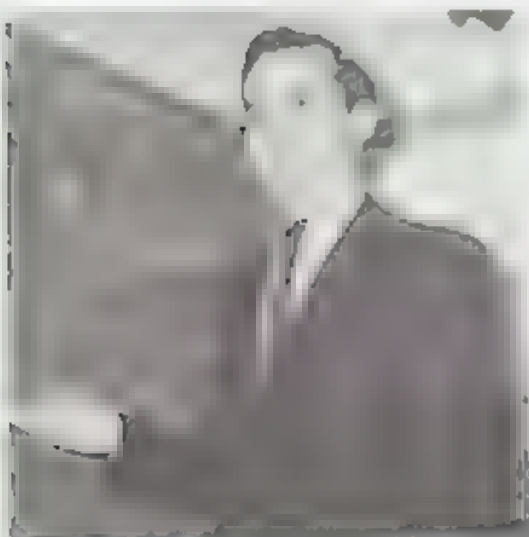

Fused English and history classes provide the core of the educational experience for junior high students.

Another important subject offered on this level is health. Notebooks on patent medicines were compiled by health classes during this year. This course serves as a background for senior high biology and physiology.

Work in science, mathematics, clothing, cooking, home and family living, music, art, and industrial arts offer junior high students a sampling of all the departments which will be available for specialization during their senior high school years.

Math Mystifies

Tomorrow's math scholars enter Creston as lowly seventh graders pursuing their ways in a general math course. Ninth grade brings the dawn of higher mathematics and the doom of many students — algebra! For those who survive, a struggle with plane geometry awaits. Algebra III follows, just a snap course. Woe be unto the daring math students who venture into the complexity of solid geometry. Almost with a sigh of relief the bedraggled students enter trigonometry and algebra IV. With a triumphant smile those lowly seventh graders of yesterday finally emerge as high school mathematical geniuses.

Science for Tomorrow

Creston should be proud of its science department, for it is the largest in the city of Grand Rapids. We owe much to the science teachers making this program so desirable and useful. Through biology, physiology, chemistry and physics, the students are given the opportunity to study all phases of science.

The biology course offers a chance to learn about all forms of life: plants and animals are studied, from the simplest to the most complex. Physiology follows this with detailed study of the human body.

The chemistry course explains the structure of matter. Students learn the applications of chemistry to everyday life through study and experimentation. The study of matter in relation to energy is taken up in Physics. Crestonites may wonder what physics students are doing pushing and chasing carts down the hall. They are not just goofing off; they are learning about the behavior of the momentum and impulse of moving bodies.

So with the help of our Science Department teachers we prepare ourselves for life in the atomic age.

Loyal Dedication to the Arts

Overtime is a well-known word among our music and art students. While many things are accomplished during regular class periods, it is the extra work which brings the biggest rewards.

Art classes usually are built around the creating of two or three large projects. Many students forfeit their study hall periods so that they can put some extra work into their projects, while others take their work home and squeeze time from their homework-ridden nights to put the finishing touches on their objets d'art.

Vocal and instrumental students put in their overtime hours in a different way. Some students take private voice and instrumental lessons, out of school hours, thus further developing their talents.

Special after school and evening rehearsals are not unusual for band, orchestra, or choir members, especially when they are planning for contests, special engagements, or concerts.

This extra effort and enthusiasm has built for Creston music and art students a respected position in the city's educational circles.

Paintings, drawings, and pieces of sculpture from the art classes have been exhibited in the Grand Rapids Art Gallery. The A Capella Choir has long been considered among the finest of the city's high school music groups, while the band has further upheld the school's name by winning ratings of excellent in district and state competitions.

Timeless and Timely Topics Tied Together

IN THE LEARNING of geographical and political facts in social science classes, maps are a great aid to the students.

Current events drew the pattern for much of the material of the social science classes this year. The assassination of a president, a nationwide tax cut, a peoples' struggle for equality, and a hard-fought political campaign for the nomination for President of the United States combined to create material for enthusiastic class participation.

Historical background and past events were still a main part of the educational foundation of each class, but the addition of current events provided much stimulating class discussion.

Time in history classes is spent reading daily lessons, participating in discussions, or listening to lectures by the teacher. Much class work is also done at maps. Occasionally class procedure is enlivened with a movie about the subject being studied at that particular time.

Another interesting way of learning is participating in panel discussions. Four or six students put on a panel relating to the topics being studied while the rest of the class listens, takes notes, absorbs knowledge.

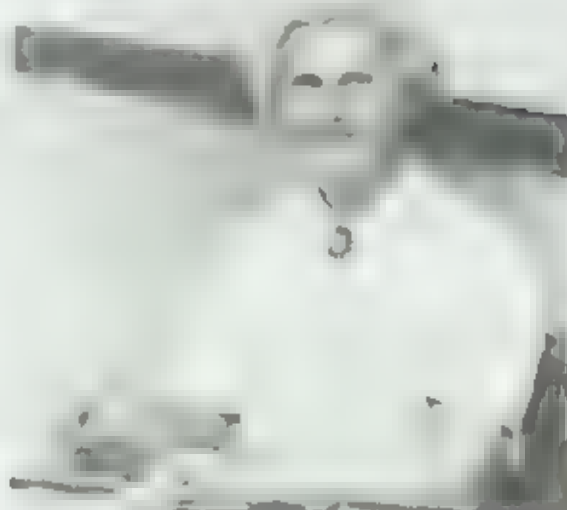

These panels are usually just for individual classes, but this year a mock United Nations panel took place at Christian High School, on April 4. Each of the city's high schools sent delegates to represent a particular member country of the U.N.

With added emphasis on the happenings of today, dry historical information was turned into a realistic and much more interesting way of understanding our American heritage.

R.O.T.C. Physical Education Driver Training

Since the development of the body as well as the mind is important to the educational idea, the physical education classes are compulsory for junior high and through the sophomore year. Girls may continue pursuing a physically active program by joining the very active A.B. Club, while boys show their interest by participating in athletics.

Preparation and training of good drivers has been the objective of the driver education course. All of the students of the city's high schools join on the driving range and obtain instruction, criticism, and help from the various teachers.

In preparation for a possible military career, students may become members of the R.O.T.C. Receiving instruction and taking orders from an army sergeant and student officers, the members learn the ways of army life.

Input, Students --- Output, Workers

Finding a place in the business world is the ambition of many Crestonites. To help them realize this goal is one of the tasks of the Business Department.

General information is learned in business classes, bookkeeping, and business law.

More specific training is offered in shorthand, typewriting, and office practice classes. Two years of shorthand and typing are offered, while office practice is a class offered just for seniors. Operation of business machines, calculators, duplicators, adding machines, and transcribers, are taught in this class, as well as filing and mailing procedures, receptionist techniques, and other related office activities.

Experimental work is being done in the business department on the introduction of data processing instructional materials into the curriculum. One of Creston's advanced typing classes worked on a special unit of materials which included the preparation of source papers for data processing machines and a study of the electronic equipment used to convert these source papers into tape or cards. While Creston was using one set of materials for this instruction, an Ottawa typing class was being taught with a different set. Results were to be reported to a city-wide committee for evaluation and decision as to data processing training's place in future high school business classes.

For non-business students, a one-semester personal typing class is offered — with special emphasis given to learning to type materials used in college classes.

Leaders of '64

The start of a successful year began with the senior class elections which this year resulted in a tie for the presidency — Cris Berry and Tom Williams served as co-presidents. Completing the slate was Donna Lindbloom as vice-president, Candi Kelly as secretary, and Maureen Earley as treasurer. These officers were augmented by Ruth Balbach, Judy Jacobson, and Mary Prothro serving on the Board of Directors. Advising the class was Mr. Donald Black, aided by Mr. Glen Burgett. Their task was to coordinate the many activities of senior homeroom.

Fast and furious came the year's activities: Queen Sue Vogel and King Mike Dunham reigned at Homecoming; a Christmas vacation party, complete with eats, swimming, ping pong, and dancing, was held at the West Y; senior work day, legalized skipping; junior-senior prom, with its excitement and fantasy; dress-up day, seniors strutting in their finery; awards assembly, honors presentation to outstanding students.

Preparing for graduation, the seniors bought name cards and graduation announcements; then they picked out navy blue caps and gowns for the boys and light blue for the girls, coordinating these with the previously selected class colors.

The highlight of the year, and the climax of four years of high school, came with the graduation ceremonies on June 9.

After an all-night session, the final gathering of the senior class was their breakfast the morning after graduation.

Grads Give Tips

For the seniors this was a busy year, and one of the most important concerns was making decisions about the future. Many of the students will be going on to college; and to give us some ideas on the requirements and advantages of different colleges, we were privileged to hear speakers from many mid-western colleges. Among those represented were Western Michigan, Central Michigan, Hope, Northwood, Davenport, Illinois Institute of Technology, Ferris, Oakland University near Detroit, and Junior College of Grand Rapids. Before Christmas we were also happy to welcome back some of Creston's seniors of last year and hear about the trials and excitements of their first year at college. Through them we were able to get a little additional information as to requirements for entrance, courses, housing, and the cost of an education.

Exchange Students Active

This year the senior class was proud to welcome two wonderful exchange students, Risto Vuorinen from Nokia, Finland, and Anne Aegelin from Stockholm, Sweden.

Anne enjoys Creston, although she is not used to a co-ed school. She likes the Creston students and the friendliness of the American people in general. Anne says, "The kids are nice and I have made many new friends of both students and faculty." She feels that we have a fairly good school paper and many extra-curricular activities. Those in which she took part were the Student Council, the "One Acts," and the senior play.

Risto too finds that Americans are friendly, and he likes Creston because of this. Risto says that many American tourists unfortunately do not impress Europeans with this quality. He also comments favorably on the senior class spirit.

Risto participated in cross country, swimming, and track; he was a member of the Key Club, the C Club, and the Student Council; and he had a major role in the One Act plays.

Through his visit he has learned to speak English much better; and, although he has to make up his senior year back in Finland, he feels the year was well spent.

"All the World's a Junior!"

This year's juniors have had an exciting, fun-filled year. To start off, the officers were elected in a campaign of posters, buttons, and mixed-up ballots. Out of the commotion the class selected this year's fine officers — President, Dale Stadt; Vice-president, Bob Kruger; Secretary, Eleanor Jacobs; and Treasurer, Steve Johnson. Creston's first P.T.S.A. carnival found the juniors working hard in a booth called "Wreck-a-Car." With their share of the profit from this wacky booth, the class of '65 presented "Twilight Time" on May 9. The prom, held in the Civic's Black and Silver Room, offered a time for laughter and dance, memories and farewells. A car wash was planned by the juniors for their final activity, and the year was tied up in a sloppy wet sprinkling of fun.

Rings Cause Excitement Among Juniors

HERFF JONI & Company strikes again!

Did you ever notice the behavior of the juniors around Christmas time? They walk about the school with a certain air, nonchalantly patting their hair into place, scratching their noses, and shaking hands with anyone who passes. They try to act so unconcerned, but oddly enough, their hands fly everywhere making it obvious they are very excited. It's plain to see that anyone can keep a secret better than a junior. So why be so demure? We all can guess what their secret is — class rings! In a few weeks the juniors are back to their normal behavior. And where is that dearly beloved class ring which caused such superior sophistication? You guessed it — on the proud hands of the steady!

Sophomores Elect Williams as President

Due to the fact that the sophomore class was doubled in size by the immigration from Riverside, capable officers were needed to lead the class. The campaign, lasting a week, held everyone's interest. Running for the top office were Jim Williams and Mike Leipsen. Gordy Ripma and Jerry May battled it out for the office of vice-president while Chen Kline, Vicki Parker, and Judy Fongers fought for the position of treasurer. Barb Bowdidge and Jan Bamum ran for secretary. On November 8, 1963 the sophomores voted for their choices: Jim Williams, Jerry May, Jan Bamum, and Judy Fongers were the winners and new officers of the sophomore class.

INTEGRATION

1964 has been a year of varied activities for the sophomores. In their academic schedule a new class, physiology, was offered to those sophomores aspiring to become high school science majors. The sophomores also struggled through the annual IOWA tests and were just as relieved to have them over as has been every sophomore in the past. On the social schedule the sophomores have planned a spring dance in May. A doughnut sale in November helped provide funds for this gala affair. Sophomores found relaxation from school pressures and enjoyment with their tenth grade friends at this semi-formal, the highlight of the sophomores' 1964 at Crexton.

Davis Leads Freshman Class

President Art Davis and his fellow officers, Vice-president, Daryle Goldberg; Secretary, Nancy Combs; and Treasurer, Patricia Smith led their freshman class in a successful year. To start the year off the freshmen held two doughnut sales which were so successful, two more sales were planned. With the money from these doughnut sales to cover expenses, the ninth graders planned a dance for themselves on May 8. The casual affair was held here in Creston's gym. The frosh had the time of their lives getting together for a night of talking, laughing, listening and dancing to recorded music.

Homecoming '63

Shining armor graced the walls. In the entry a castle, complete with moat and drawbridge, was majestically standing. An air of medieval fancy filled the Greenridge Country Club — this was truly a "Night of Knights."

Under soft lights couples danced to the band of Don Lewis while at the jousting stand, guarded by two knights in shining armor, reigned Queen Sue Vogel and King Mike Dunham.

It seemed like ages had elapsed between the Homecoming Game October 18, which Creston had won, and the dance held November 2. The two-week intermission was due to the fact that the Greenridge Country Club wasn't available. The festive spirit, however, was regained, making the dance a success.

One of the featured events was the knighting of Sir Martin VanWingen, a Creston faculty member for 37 years, as the Teacher of the Year.

Rose and Lugar Set Mood for '63 One Acts

One carved table; a decanter of poison; two glasses and a chess board — these main elements intermingled with an air of suspense set the mood for "A Game of Chess," presented by the dramatics class November 7.

The play takes place in Russia a few months before the people revolted. Alexis Alexandrovich, superbly portrayed by Cris Berry, was at that time czar. He approved an appointment made by a rival peasant Shamrayeff, played by Risto Vuorinen, in an effort to prove to himself and to others that he could dissuade the armed Shamrayeff from killing him, by playing a game of wits. All ended when they both drank a glass of poison to which the clever Alexis had already preconditioned himself. He lived on while the dying Shamrayeff fell to the floor.

The next play involved powders, pills, capsules, tablets and "Materia Medica" that were set in a comic whirl by a coquette little nurse, Dixie Darling, who had one thing on her mind — a certain Doctor Kent. The play abruptly ended when Dixie ran down the isle with the Doctor, Bill Kellogg.

Band Displays a Variety of Talents

Far off Cyprus, three brothers, and a song to Karen — "Exodus," in three parts, as performed by the Senior Band, highlighted this year's Band Variety Show, given December 5. Brevity was made the theme as senior Dennis Johnson, MC, narrated a comic satire about concerts of the future in the "Concert Digest."

Holly Goad, junior, was the featured trumpet soloist playing "My Regards." Three patriotic marches, "American Patrol," and "Portrait of This Old Man" concluded the concert portion of the program.

The gaiety and spice of New Orleans was revived "Down at Papa Joe's" in a dance routine involving juniors and seniors. As "Papa Joe's" danced off the stage, goldfish swam on in the bottles of the unique bottle band, dressed in zaney attire.

Then a hillbilly safari made its way onto an empty stage, and the finale "Goodnight Ladies" rang out.

Glory to God in the highest, peace on earth, good will toward men. The heavenly messengers gathered in reverence; a light shown down on the Christ child and the Christmas season reached its climax in the presentation of the "Gloria."

This annual program, produced through the combined efforts of the dramatics, vocal, and instrumental music departments, relates the ancient Christmas story of the nativity.

Saradan, aptly portrayed by Cris Berry, and Elizabeth, Sue De Fouw, headed the cast. Craig Stoker, Pat Smith, Glen Jones, Jack Lovel and Joel Mills completed the personnel of this sacred story.

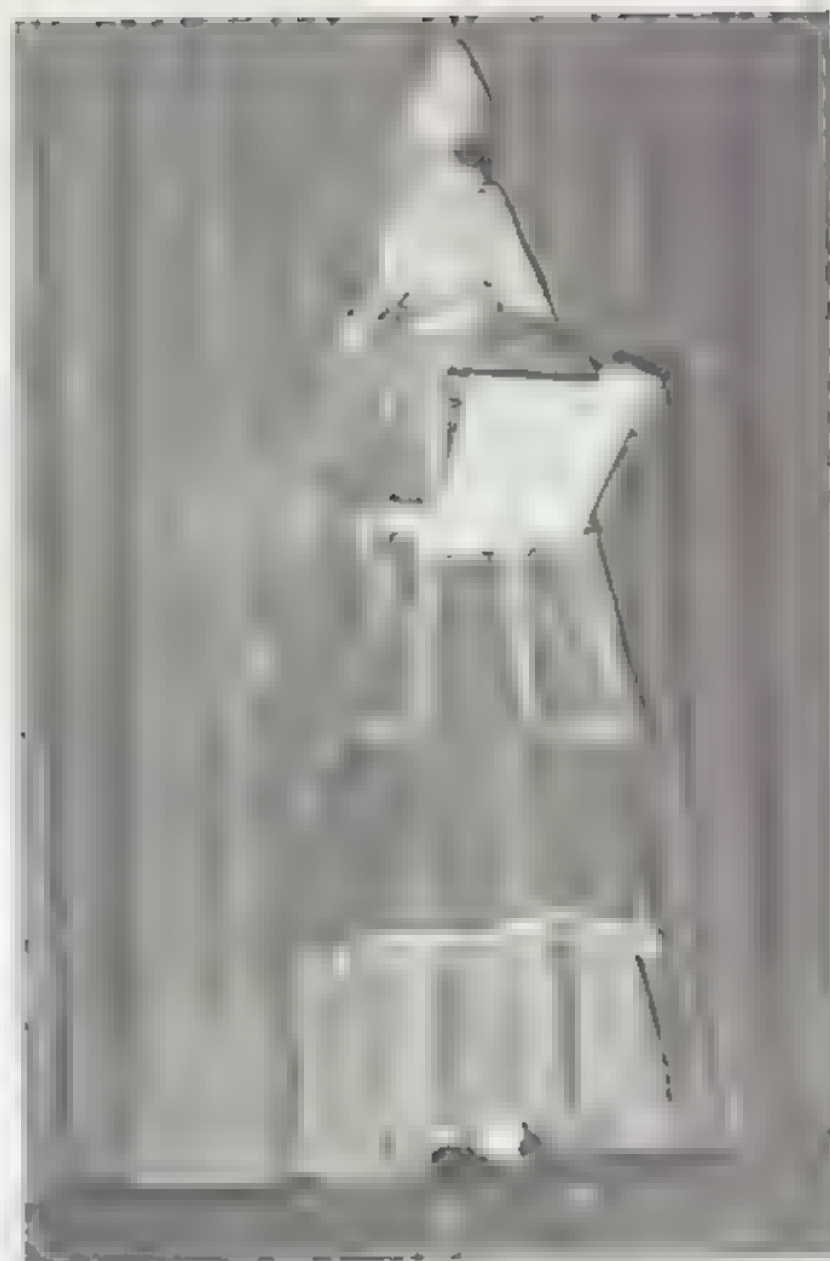

Helen Snyder, Pat Smith and Judy Steffe combined their talents to convey the musical theme of the Gloria.

As the Adoration Choir gathered around the nativity, the 27th presentation was completed.

It's a Wacky Wonderful World!

FOUR AND TWENTY "Beatles" baked in a pie?

LITTLE MISS Muffet fell off her tuffet

Hilarity, refinement and sarcasm expressed the main moods of this "Wacky Wonderful World," student council revue. Narrating the story was Mike Hackenbruch as Mr. Milton Mortifer and his family: wife Wilma (Dayle Terpstra), teenager Linda (Mary Earley), twenty-one year old Bob (Steve Strayer), and four year old Laurie (Vicki Bailey)

The revue toured the different worlds of each family member, from the Night Club entertainment enjoyed by Bob to the Mickey Mouse Party which captivated Laurie

At the beach, Linda experienced a wild time as she watched the Creston Beatles howling such specialties as "Glad Over," "Close Your Eyes," and "She Loves You."

Jan Fuller, a super stripper, was featured at the New Orleans Club; and after selecting an unsuspecting subject from the audience, Jan and her partner danced the Bossa Nova

The senior boys did a special routine for little Laurie at Mickey Mouse's Birthday Party. They skillfully danced and sang in their duckling, spotless leopard, and parakeet costumes.

Then, as a proper ending for the evening, the Tonight Show, starring Jack Bogey and Hugh Ups, was presented. The "show" featured Fifi la Steppe (Ellen Knight) and Lynne Morman. Following the "show," the entire revue cast joined on stage in a joyous finale

Comedy, Romance Highlight Senior Play

A shy darkhaired farm girl, an austere protective reverend, and a delightful scheming housekeeper starred in this year's senior play, "Jenny Kissed Me."

The plot revolved around the plain-jane housekeeper's niece, Jenny (Helen Snyder); the 34-year old bachelor, Michael Saunders (Ken Wiederhold), who loved Jenny just as she was; and the cupid-in-disguise reverend who tried to make her "hep" and maritally acceptable to the playboy type Owen Parkside (Bob Zoerner). All appeared to be going well for the reverend's plan until Mr. Parkside (Mike Hackenbruch) stepped in and destroyed the whole idea.

However, true love found its way and Jenny and Michael were happily married.

The matinee performance suffered a theatrical catastrophe when the female lead developed a nose bleed. Clever ad-libbing on the part of her fellow actors, however, proved successful and saved the play.

Senior Honor Society Nationally Recognized

Jim Koster (Pres.)

Honor, service, and dedication to learning — this is the Senior Honor Society, a select organization whose members are chosen on the basis of the preceding qualities.

The club had two fall projects: a dance held to earn money and the collection of food for baskets which were given to needy families at Thanksgiving. Also, a city-wide interclub meeting was held at Creston, with guest speaker Clive Waxman talking about Australia.

At Christmastime the club organized its second money-raising project, a cookie sale. At the P.T.S.A. Polarama, a "coke-bottle-sit-up" was sponsored.

In the spring an interclub party, held at East High, was planned by Creston as a follow-up to the interclub meeting held earlier in the year.

At the honors assembly the Honor Society presented one hundred dollar scholarships to deserving seniors.

Junior Honor Society -- On the Way Up!

Scholastic-minded students are given the honor of belonging to a nationally affiliated association, the Junior Honor Society.

With honor comes responsibility. Under the leadership of President Shirley VanderVliet, the society members accepted the responsibility of helping those less fortunate than themselves by giving baskets of food to two needy families, once at Thanksgiving time and again at Christmas.

Spring activities were centered around the P.T.S.A. carnival, where the group sponsored a confectionary booth.

Other officers were Vice President, Janis Purins; Secretary-Treasurer, Barbara Alger.

Of the Students, By the Students, For the Students

Jack Lovell (Treas.), Jim Boss (Vice-Pres.), Sherry Chilcote (Sec.), Chase (Pres.)

Senior Student Council — a select group that represents the Senior High by forming an executive body of Creston students.

Each year they are responsible for certain duties usually taken for granted by the student body: decorating the goal posts for the football games, sponsoring post-game dances, making signs for the games, and organizing the Student Directory.

This year the members cleverly decorated the halls for the Christmas season, and they also donated money to the Santa Claus Girls to help spread the Yuletide spirit throughout the city.

Spring activities were centered around the production of the annual Revue, "It's a Wonderful World," and the P.T.S.A., "Polarama."

Junior High's Government

Blending energies and ideas to come up with an active year was the appointed task of the Junior Student Council, a representative body of the junior high school, grades 7, 8, and 9.

With three money-raising projects, they not only built up the club's coffers, but also generated school spirit in the younger set. These projects were an after-school caramel apple sale, a car wash, and a dance.

Special recreational activities for junior high featured a bowling party as well as a roller skating party.

Big spring project of the year was the pizza booth held at the P.T.S.A. carnival: Terry Ballard and Bonnie Hansen, representatives to the P.T.S.A. Council were in charge.

Sparkling the year's activities and helping junior high students to become a significant part of Creston High were the officers: President Wayne Woosley, Vice-President Bonnie Kamp, Secretary Jackie Voutila, Treasurer Craig McDonald.

The pep and enthusiasm expressed by the student body at games is fomented by the spirited varsity cheerleaders.

This group of six girls, under the leadership of Sue Vogel, led school spirit on the football field and the basketball court.

The big project this year was the purchasing of new uniforms. A fall dance was given to raise the necessary money.

Long hours of practicing the old routines and coordinating new ones were this year helped by two cheerleading clinics held during the winter months, one at Kenowa and the other at Godwin.

These girls also assisted in painting posters for the pep assemblies and participating in the Student Council Pep Rally.

KEY CLUB packs food baskets for the needy at Thanksgiving time

The Key Club, a junior branch of the Kiwanis Club, is one of Creston's most active service clubs.

In the fall, as its first project, the Key Club sold Halloween candy, the profits from which were donated to the National Kidney Foundation. At Christmas baskets of food were collected and distributed through the Grand Rapids area.

A dance in the cafeteria was sponsored by the club at the Polarama, in addition to a travel poster booth, where colorful travel advertisements were sold.

Through the year the club sponsored many after-game dances and sold tickets to the Kiwanis travelog series.

The Key Club members also attended a state convention which was held in Grand Rapids.

Youth For Christ

Gathering every Friday morning for fun and Christian fellowship is the Youth for Christ Club, one of Creston's largest organizations.

First on the agenda for the club's annual activities was the "Youtharama" held locally September 21-25, and in which Creston's YFC group participated. This was followed by the Christmas card selling project, to raise money for the club.

For fun, a spirited hayride was held, starting from Woodland Stables; while for fellowship, with a more serious motive, the members assisted with the rallies at the Mel Trotter Auditorium.

Today's Students, Tomorrow's Teachers

BONNIE KAINZ teams teaching techniques at Kent Hills.

Some students being taught today will someday become the teachers, so for them a club was established — Future Teachers.

The group gets first hand practice at the teaching profession by cadet teaching at Kent Hills Elementary School.

During the year, the group took two trips: In November they visited Western Michigan University; and in April, as a spring trip, they went to Ridgeview for a future teachers clinic. Individual members were sent to represent the club at Kent County Future Teachers meetings held the first Tuesday of the month, and also to the State Convention held March 20.

As the big money raising project of the year the club sold Christmas cards. Two parties were planned and attended by members — a potluck supper and a pizza party.

The members, by compiling teaching credits, worked toward pins which were presented at the annual honors assembly.

A united effort to record a year — this has been the purpose of the Saga Staff.

With the start of the year the students gather in the small gym-bounded room where sections are assigned and the year's course is explained. After much thought and discussion, the theme and the dedicatees are chosen, the colors are picked. Then comes the season of frustrations, lay-outs, spoiled pictures, re-takes, rubber cement, razor blades, T squares, and ulcers.

CRISTON'S FOUR leading debaters — Jim Christenson, Elbert Magoon, Mike Perlman, Ken Wiederhold

A knack for methodical argument is the general characteristic of the members of the debate team.

After many strenuous debates on the topic of "Medicare for the Aged," the team finished second in city league competition. This year's competition took them to such cities as Kalamazoo, Big Rapids, and Battle Creek. Since the group started with only three experienced debaters, Mike Perlman, Rick Arrington and Ken Wiederhold, the team missed going to the State Debate Convention.

Under the competent leadership of Miss Esther Thomasma, the team puts in many long hours of research and speech preparation before the speech competitions begin.

Forensics — a group of students banded together by a common interest in speaking.

Local, district, and regional contests are held — placement in one being the requirement for passing on to the next higher round. Original oratory, interpretive reading, declamation, extemporaneous speaking, dramatic monologue, and humorous reading are the sections of the forensics contests. Through these contests students are given opportunities to gain recognition in this field and also, in some cases, to win college scholarships.

Under the leadership of Miss Thomasma, the forensics students experienced a very rewarding year.

Language Comes to Life in French Club

French Cafe — atmosphere and all!

The Moulon Bleue — a new twist to an old theme. An authentic French cafe — the main project of this year's French Club — their booth at the Polarama. With Mr. James Franz as adviser, this year's French Club participated in many activities. The French cafe not only supplied the treasury with a few dollars but gave the visitors a glimpse of true French atmosphere.

New this year to the club was the correspondence with French students. From every part of France students were selected to correspond with club members. This connection gave everyone a chance to further his knowledge of the French language and to allow the students to compare ideas and activities with those of the foreign students.

The parties held at students' homes enabled the club members to meet one another and converse in the French language. After the traditional French dinner, entertainment was provided by the members. This year's officers, Sue Vogel, Mary Kay Anderson, Kay Snowfleet, and Nanci Metzger gave much time to providing an entertaining and educational experience for all members.

A Cappella Choir - "The Sound of Music"

"JUST a little too long, I think."

The voices that were rehearsed and blended in Room 2 were again blended with all the other high school choirs and the J.C. choral group to sing a stirring concert at Fountain Street Church. Two glorious anthems were sung, "Jesus Born in Bethlehem" and "Alleluia."

To highlight the Christmas season the annual Gloria was presented, with the a cappella choir participating. To add a special touch the choir sang in the halls during the festive season.

The choir divided into quartets and solo voices when they sang at Riverside Junior High.

In observance of the Lenten season, the choir appeared at Bethlehem Lutheran Church to sing, "Let Us Break Bread Together."

Under the leadership of Mr. Frank Goodwin, the choir presented its annual Spring Concert. On May 8 Mr. Goodwin was honored at a farewell

Senior Band: DeVoe-tion

A challenge of musical sound, harmonic gusto, and a musical devoe-tion — this is senior band, one of Creston's most dedicated organizations.

Ann Arbor was the site of the annual Band Day where the band joined with other high school bands to participate in this colorful exhibition.

After providing the musical interlude at football games the band settled down to work on its big project of the year — new uniforms to replace the 25-year old present relics. Every money raising method, from candy sales to neighborhood and nationwide alumnae letters, were used in the campaign. In appreciation to Mr. DeVoe for all his work, the band members secretly bought him a director's uniform which they presented to him at the Spring Concert.

From mid-winter to March 17 the band put in long hours of work in preparation for the District Band and Orchestra Festival, where the senior band represented Creston in AA competition. They received an excellent rating from 4 of Michigan's most critical musical judges.

In return for the rewarding and pleasurable exchange concert held in Ludington last year, Creston's band this year played host to Ludington's on the third and fourth of April. An exchange concert was performed, followed by a special party held in the Central Y.M.C.A. in Ludington's honor.

As a final activity the band presented the Spring Concert, wearing for the first time their new uniforms.

Forming its course around the basic principles of leadership, Creston's Reserved Officers Training Corps provides a highly diversified course. The year begins with the enrollment of new cadets, who are taught how to work together as an organization. Drill periods are held each week to train cadets for Field Day which is held in May and the monthly inspections where they compete with the R.O.T.C.'s from South and Union for "Color Company." Other activities include a Military Ball and four interscholastic sports, baseball, football, basketball, and volleyball. The R.O.T.C. includes organizations within itself, competition Rifle and Drill Teams and Bars and Chevrons Club for sergeants and officers. The academic course includes first aid, map reading, leadership, dismounted drill, and tactics.

Make Football Season a Memorable One

Going through what looked like a promising season, an on and off brand of football brought on corresponding thrills and disappointments to the Creston gridiron. In living up to their promise, Coach Joe McGee and Co. produced wins over Godwin, Ottawa, and conference champions South, but our gridders had too many shortcomings to finish better than 4th in the city league.

By downing Ottawa 19-14 the Creston Polar Bears scored a double victory over the Indians of Ottawa by retaining the traditional "football" trophy and winning the Homecoming game.

Low spots of the year resulted in losses to Union, Central, and non-league West Catholic and North Farmington. In the last game against always powerful Catholic Central, the Bears led 20-12 and held the halftime lead. However, the mistakes in the second half were too costly, furnishing Creston with a loss and a 5-3 overall record.

TEAM ELECTS CO-CAPTAINS

For the first time in many seasons Creston's football team was given the opportunity of choosing its captain at the beginning of the season instead of the end. The team chose two of the most able boys on the team, senior '62 all-city halfback Mike Dunham and senior '63 all-city tackle Dave Powers, as co-captains. These two led the team in pre-game calisthenics and got the team "up" in the locker room for the game.

POWERS MAKES ALL-CITY TEAM

Creston had one player on the Coaches' 1963 All-City Team. This was senior co-captain Dave Powers, who was placed on the team for his fine work at a tackle slot.

Receiving honorable mention on the all-city team for Creston were backs Mike Dunham and Dale Stadt, and Gary Lance at an end spot.

This year's team chose Dave Powers as the most valuable player, who, operating at end, was the mainstay of the defensive line.

Harriers Cop Third in City Meet

Sparked by a group of newcomers and a handful of veterans, the '63 cross country team came out of nowhere to take third in the city meet and gain a respectable fourth place tie in the dual standings. Led by senior captain and most valuable player Bill VanTatenhove, the squad jelled into a capable unit and caused more than a few heads to be turned. Talented underclassmen headed by captain-elect Steve Thomas were instrumental in the club's surge and fit largely into Coach Daming's plans for next year.

Pulling out the tough ones in the first half of league competition, the Creston Cagers piled up 5 wins in 7 encounters, losing only to powerful Christian and perennial-champion South. However, a second-half rut ruined what would have been a fine year as the Bears won only one out of their last seven games, the win being a one-point victory over last place West Catholic. This slump dropped Creston from third place to a three-way tie for fourth place in the league standings, with a 6-8 league and 7-9 overall record. In tournament competition, the Bears beat Union only to lose to Central in the District Championship game.

Although somewhat disappointing, the 63-64 season was not without its bright spots. The first half gave Creston fans a lot to cheer about, the high point of the year being a thrilling double overtime win over a talented Ottawa club. Creston's opening league game against Union was also a hair-raising overtime victory.

After wading through the remainder of the season in poor fashion, the Bears regained their winning first-half spark in the District Tournament. Coming from behind in the dying minutes, they downed Union 59-57 and gave Central a good battle before going down to a late scoring spurt and losing, 68-57.

Throughout the season, senior guard Gordy Berridge turned in fine performances and was the most consistent of the Bear scorers. When seniors Jack Lovell and Dave Powers, along with Berridge, were hot, they formed a nucleus which was hard to beat.

Rounding out the starting ranks were seniors Bill Kellogg, Mike Phillips, along with juniors Dale Stadt and Dale Siekman.

Swim Team Finishes Third in City

Splashing to a third in city league and dual meet competition Creston's tankers showed amazing depth, considering that only six lettermen returned from last year's 4th place team.

During the year three records were broken. The three new standards set are the 40-yard freestyle by sophomore Rick Smith, the 100 yard freestyle by Jim Andree, junior, and the 160-yard freestyle relay team, consisting of Andree, Smith, and seniors, Rick Olmstead and Steve Ciucci, which copped the city and school record with a time of 1:15:9.

This year's captain, senior Mike Smith, was elected most valuable player for his consistently fine performances in the 200 and 400-yard freestyle events.

Because of the lack of experienced material, coach Gene Kaye had to rely on many young sophomores and juniors, upon which much of the burden had to fall. This team, bolstered with enthusiasm, displayed a fine 5-2 overall city league record that put the team into 3rd place finish in the finals.

This year's letterwinners were: sophomores; Rick Smith, Mike Bauer, Dave Verwys, and Jim Blood; juniors, Jim Andree, and Mike McDougal, seniors Mike Smith, Marv Feutz, Rick Olmstead, Lehigh Smith, Steve Ciucci, John Stapley, Jim Boss, and Bob Solomon. Rick Olmstead was also chosen most valuable player.

Riding on the crest of last year's championship season, the '64 baseball Bears show the necessary personnel and winning spirit to make a successful defense of the city league title.

JERRY ORENT takes a ripper.

Although many of last year's regulars were lost through graduation, this year's roster is bolstered by six returning letter winners and a host of capable underclassmen ready to assume starting roles. This year's team promises to be an exciting one, featuring speed, hustle, and a tight defense. The season's hopes rest on the shoulders of senior vets Fred Brown, Dick Ritchie, and co-captains Gary Lance and Mike Dunham.

Dunham, who won all-city honors last year with a solid .289 average, handles the catching duties. The infield is headed by Lance at first, junior letterwinners Tom Schultz and Jerry Orent at second and third, and junior Dave Crowley at shortstop. The outfield, with Ritchie in left, is in a rebuilding process. Candidates for the other two positions are Steve Miller, Jim Gibbs, Bob VanderMeer and Steve Straaver. The Creston mound staff, headed by Fred Brown, is a question mark, Brown being the only letterwinner. The hopes for the season depend on whether or not the rest of the staff develops. Promising hurlers are Tom Cameron, Bob Krueger, Al Shenk, and Bob Boomgard.

City Title Hopes May Depend on Depth

This year's golf team should be a top title threat, with depth being the big question mark. Senior Jay DeGroot and juniors Gary Potter and Greg Barnum are the returning letter winners who will form the nucleus of the team, but the gaps will have to be successfully filled by new faces. The top new players hoping to see action this year are senior Bob Solomon, juniors Tom Luebke and Doug VanDyke, and sophomore Denny Hendricks.

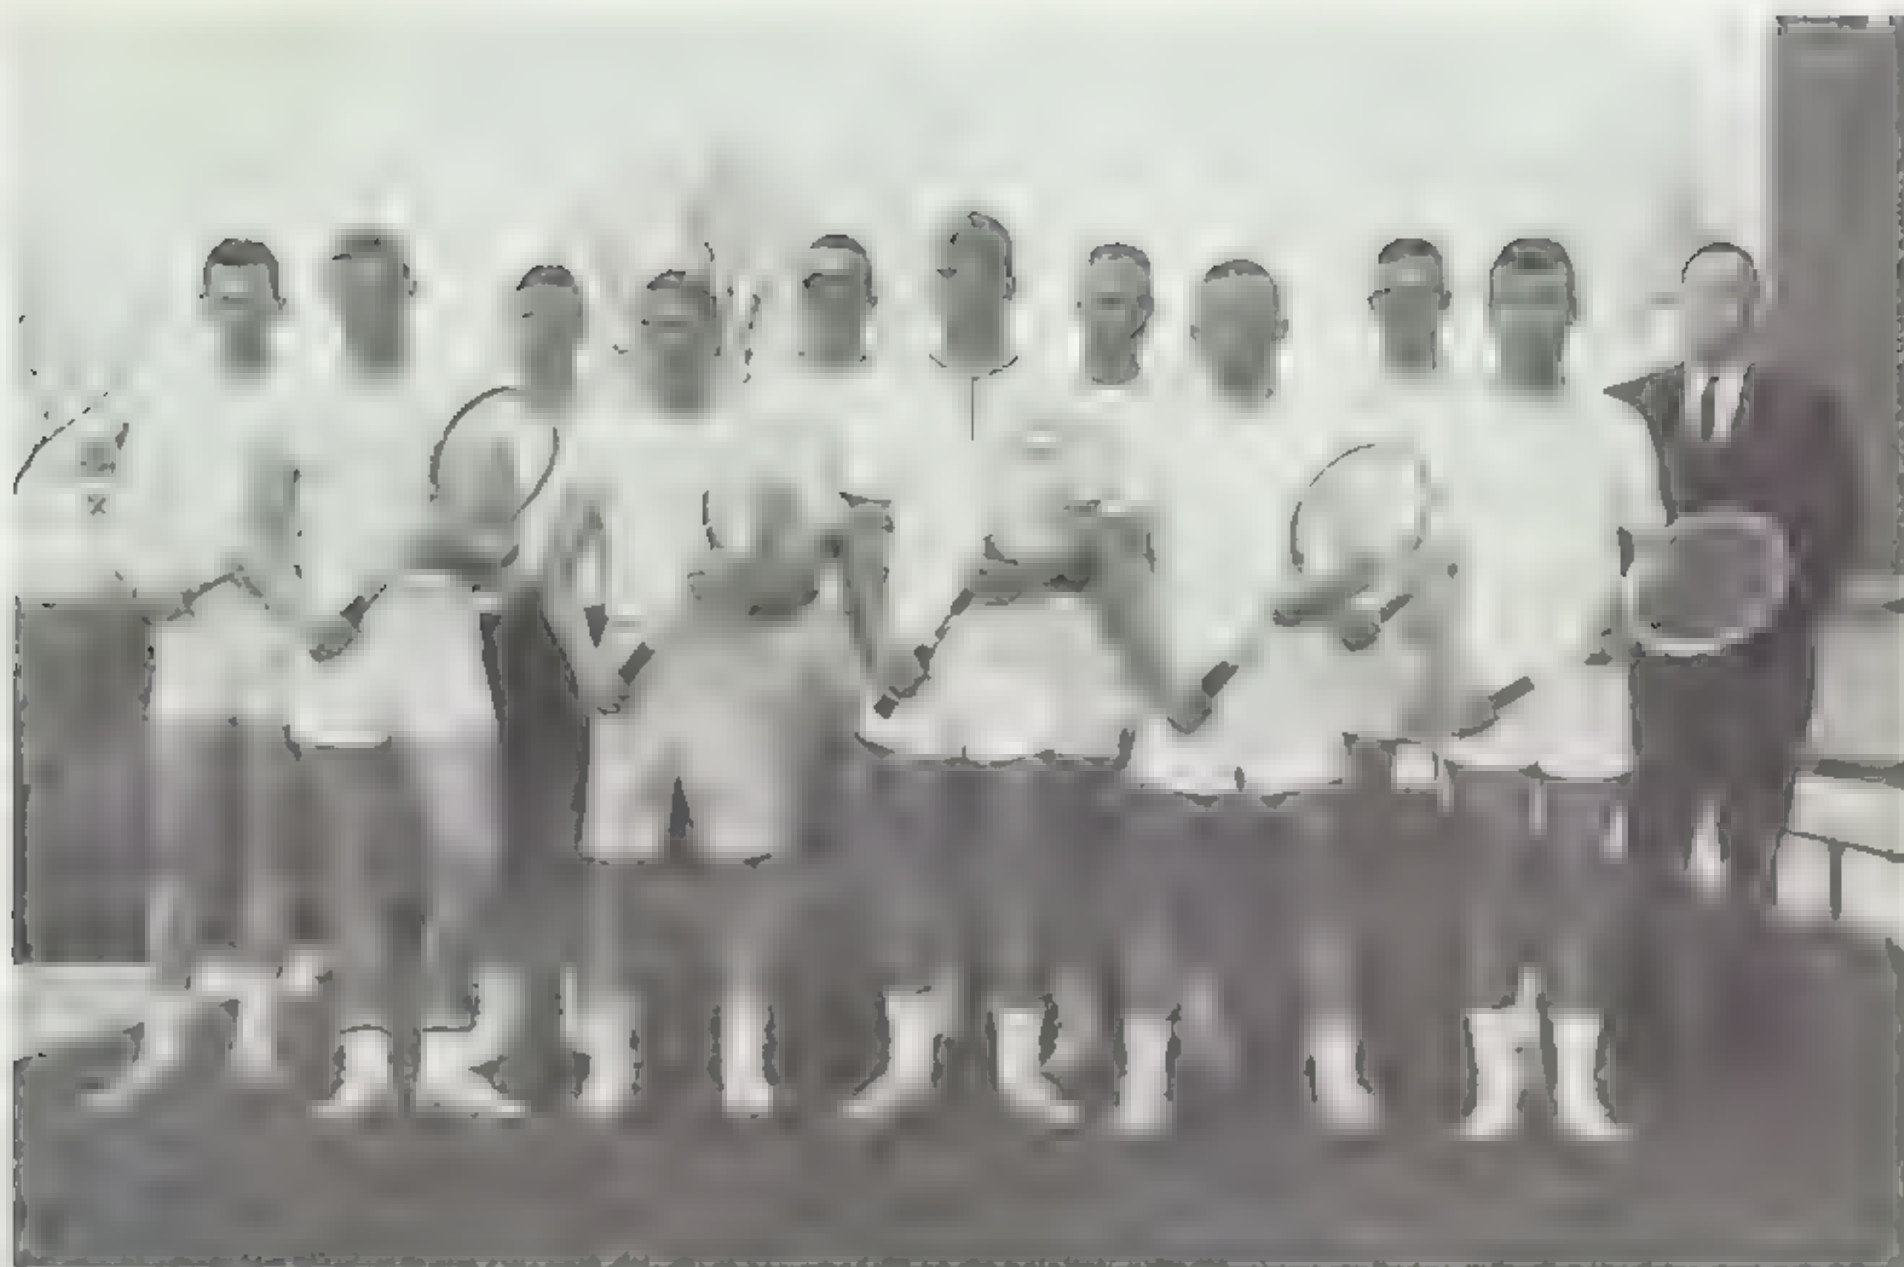

Last year's golf team won every match but lost the city league championship to Union because of the point system in use.

This year Creston is out not only to win all matches, but to win on total points as well.

Tennis Team Top City Contender

This year's tennis team looks to be the strongest of the last two years.

Losing only one of last year's regulars, the team is aiming for a shot at the city championship. The team, coached by Don Eikenhout, is leaning heavily on the Seniors this year, although Bill Davidson, a junior, seems to have the top spot sewn up.

Veterans and Youth

Make '64 Track Team

"Youth" is the keynote of the '64 track team. With the loss of many experienced performers and only a handful of returning lettermen, coach Burgett is counting entirely upon many inexperienced underclassmen who have had little or no previous track experience.

Returning lettermen include: juniors Dale Stadt, Larry Cowell, Mike McDougal, and seniors Terry Fortney, Tom Hendrickson, Rick Olmstead and co-captains for '64 Bill VanTatenhove and Dave Meyers.

The 63-64 season found a new sport introduced at Creston. Wrestling made its debut and drew a fair turnout. The team, coached by Earl Caprara, was composed of junior and sophomore boys, who lacked the vital experience needed for a finely polished team, but made up for this lack with keen desire.

As the season came to a close, the Bears were a tougher, up-and-coming team, who managed to tie for fourth in the city meet. Plenty of action from the wrestling team will be expected in future seasons.

Girls Successful in First Try at Swimming

It appears that Creston girls have a new interest — swimming. One hundred ninety-one girls signed up for a program of recreational swimming, 38 for competitive. Due to a lack of facilities, it was impossible to have the recreational program, but those 38 interested in interscholastic competition started practicing once a week. Week by week the number diminished, until finally only 20 girls were left, coached by Bonnie Brinkman, a former Creston student now attending Junior College.

In this the first year of girls' interscholastic swimming, Creston, West Catholic, and Ottawa participated. Creston girls lost their first dual meet to West Catholic by the score of 48-49. They then defeated Ottawa and went on to win the title by taking first place in the tri-meet held during spring vacation. Creston had 50 points, West Catholic 48, and Ottawa 42. In a non-league meet with Creston senior boys, no score was kept.

It appears very likely that this program will be continued next year. Interest among the girls ran high, indicating a desire to continue. Other schools are now considering forming teams, so possibly in the future there will be a well-organized city league of girls' swimming teams.

Girls Try Their Hand at Basketball - Finish Second in City

In this, their second year as a competing unit, the girls' basketball team showed once and for all that girls' sports should no longer be considered a joke. Using depth as well as individual talent, the girls placed second in the city. In what proved to be an almost unbelievably close season, Christian (5-1) placed first, followed by Creston (4-2), Ottawa (3-3), and Central (0-6). Mrs. Nelson, girls' gym teacher, coached this year's squad, which shows promise of being even stronger next year.

150 BOSTWICK AVENUE
GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN

At the close of our final year
And the end of high school draws near,

We will be closing the door
On the class of nineteen hundred sixty four.

All our varied efforts have been bent
Making this a year of true achievement.

And to the Saga Staff was given the task
Of recording the memories that will last:

The friends one has formed
Classmates
Teachers
Advisers

The activities that have taken place
Organizations
Teams
Fun

All of them contributed to the lore
That we have recorded to remember more.

My appreciation to Miss Lally who inspired
And all the staff who shared
The failures and successes

Finances
Pictures
Layouts
Copy
Editing

The beginning enthusiasm –
The deadline desperation –
The completion, proud fulfillment.
